

WE READ TO WATCH, WE WATCH SO THAT YOU COULD WRITE

We continue with the innovative approach to presenting the debate activities in BiH, which include the combination of text and video feature. The learning process is a process in which equal partners participate – students and teachers. In Bosnia and Herzegovina there is still a prevalent view that in the educational system teachers must have the absolute authority and that students cannot in any way dispute or question teachers' claims. This is why the event that Centre of Cultivating Dialogue is presenting to you in this text is highly unusual for the BiH educational system. It is a public debate in which students participated jointly with the teachers, and not only proved that they are equal partners, but that they can be a competition to the teachers when it comes to knowledge and skills. Let us watch together if the students were more successful than the teachers and which team had the arguments of better quality. Argumentative discussion before us a proof that if one applies the rules of the debate, there is not topic which cannot be discussed and have contradicted attitudes about, no matter the controversy and sensibility. Even though the students, as well as professors, made some debate mistakes, many BiH politicians could learn a lot from their way of communication and the tolerance for different opinions. Write your comments and suggestions about each individual speech or debate in general, because recognizing the mistakes and ways to overcome them is the best way to learn.

Link: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AsbnhN7cLCo>